BOOK REPORT GUIDE & SUGGESTED BOOK LIST

This Guide is intended to help you write book reports. Book reports can be an important way to show the Board that you are thinking about and working on some aspect of yourself and/or your life crime(s). Book reports can also help you to fill gaps in the programming that is available to you at your institution. By writing a book report, you should not be just summarizing what you read. Instead, you should be explaining what you learned about yourself and your actions by reading the book.

I. Choosing a Book

First, you will need to choose a book to read. As mentioned above, a book report should show that you are thinking about some aspect of yourself and/or your life crimes(s). This may be a character trait (such as low self-esteem), a characteristic of your crime (such as domestic violence), or a concern brought up by the Board at your last hearing (such as substance abuse). If your institution does not have programs available that address an issue you need to work on, book reports are a good way to take initiative and work on yourself on your own. Below are some suggested books you might choose to read, organized by the topic they address. Some of these books may be available in the library, but most will need to be bought by your supporters and mailed to you from an approved seller (such as Amazon).

II. Reading the Book

As you read the book, focus on understanding the main ideas and concepts. If it is helpful to you, take notes and write down page numbers of particularly important parts so you can go back and find them later. However, the book report should not just be a summary, so do not feel like you have to write down every part of the book. Focus on what seems to apply to you and/or your life crime(s). If there are certain parts that are particularly helpful in understanding your character traits or behaviors, you should take note of those.

III. Writing the Book Report

The first paragraph of your book report should present the book, its author, and the topic the book focuses on. Use this paragraph to introduce the book, and very briefly lay out its main ideas. In the next paragraphs, you should explain how the main ideas of the book apply to your life and/or crime(s). Here are some useful questions to think about as you write your book report:

1. What did the concept(s) in the book teach you about yourself?
2. How have you changed, and become a new person compared to who you were at the time of your life crime(s)? How did the concept(s) in the book help this transformation?
3. What did the concept(s) in the book teach you about your responsibility? Were there ways in which you were minimizing your responsibility for your actions?
4. How did the concept(s) in the book teach you how you could have avoided your crime(s)? How could you have changed your decision-making process?
5. What lessons will you take from the concept(s) in the book and apply throughout your life?

6. How did the concept(s) in the book change and/or deepen your understanding of the impact your actions had on others? How did your actions impact the victim of your crime(s)?

You do not need to answer all of these questions when thinking about any concept from the book, but starting with one may be a good way to approach writing your report. Even though the person reading your report will not have read the actual book, you should keep your summary of the book very brief so that you can focus on what you learned about yourself.

Finally, your conclusion should wrap up the things you learned from the book, and how it has helped you address aspects of yourself and/or your life crime(s). Focus on how you will apply the lessons learned from the book to your life, not just to understand your past but to live a better future.

IV. Some General Tips

- Do not minimize your responsibility for your crime(s). While you can explain how outside circumstances may have led to your crime(s), you must take full responsibility for the decision you made and actions you took.
- Use active language in your book report. For example, instead of saying, “My victim was killed,” say “I killed my victim.” By making this small grammatical change, you make it clear that you take full responsibility for what you did.
- Challenge yourself to be completely honest and transparent while writing your book report.
- Go through drafts. Check for spelling and grammar errors. See if you can word things more clearly. If you have friends, loved ones, or supporters who would be willing to do so, have them read a draft and write notes for you.

V. Summaries of Books

Anger

Freeing the Angry Mind, by Peter Bankart

- Combining Buddhist thinking, behavioral psychology, and humor, Freeing the Angry Mind offers a series of exercises and advice to help you move through anger in a more meaningful way.

The Anger Trap, by Les Carter

- The Anger Trap strips away the misconceptions about anger and reveals how you can learn to distinguish between healthy and unhealthy anger. It examines the root causes of anger and helps you realize your patterns, breaking the cycle of criticism and frustration that hurt you and others around you.

Transforming Anger, by Doc Lew Childre

- Transforming Anger teaches how thoughts and feelings get stored in the nervous system and create triggers of irritation, frustration, and anger. Readers can then find out how to control these triggers using a series of exercises.

Anger Among Angels, by William Defoore

- Drawing on real-life experiences, Anger Among Angels explores the natural roots of anger and why it emerges as rage in some people. It reveals the precursors to toxic anger as well as how to express anger in healthy ways.

Anger, by Thich Nhat Hanh

- Anger, by Buddhist monk Thich Nhat Hanh, gives tools and advice on how to transform relationships, focus energy, and rejuvenate those parts of the self-destroyed by anger. It aims to build spiritual, physical, and mental development.

Healing Rage: Women Making Inner Peace Possible, by Ruth King

- Healing Rage aims to help distinguish between anger and rage. Targeted to women, it shows readers the root of their unhappiness and how to seek new paths of hope.

Letting Go of Anger, by Ronald & Pat Potter Efron

- Letting Go of Anger profiles patterns of anger behavior that include addictive anger, sneaky anger, deliberate anger, and anger avoidance. The book also offers self-tests and management techniques that promote healthy and non-destructive expressions of anger.

Surprising Purpose of Anger, by Marshall Rosenberg

- Surprising Purpose uses techniques from the Nonviolent Communication (NVC) process to help readers channel anger in a positive way. Rather than managing your anger by suppressing your feelings, Surprising Purpose shows you how to use anger to discover what you need, and then how to meet your needs in constructive ways.

What's Making You Angry, by Marshall Rosenberg

- Using techniques from the Nonviolent Communication (NVC) process, What's Making You Angry teaches readers how to use anger as an emotion to help us discover what we need and value. It offers a step-by-step approach that successfully transforms anger into healthy, satisfying outcomes.

Family/Parenting Issues

Houses of Healing, by Robin Casarjian

- Focusing on incarcerated individuals, Houses of Healing deals directly with the root causes of crime, violence, and addiction to offer a practical approach to emotional growth. The book gives guidance in stress management, coping strategies, and forgiveness.

An Adult Child's Guide to What's Normal, by Friel & Friel

- An Adult Child's Guide to What's Normal targets adults who have been raised in dysfunctional families but are now ready to live a healthy lifestyle. The book offers a practical guide to living a healthy lifestyle by demonstrating mature responses to difficult situations.

Toxic Parents, by Susan Forward

- Drawing on real-life experiences, Toxic Parents helps adults who have grown up in dysfunctional families free themselves from the cycle of abuse. It guides individuals towards rediscovery and building self-confidence.

Lost Fathers, by Laraine Herring

- Lost Fathers is a guide for adult women who, during adolescence, lost their fathers to death, divorce, or addiction. It addresses how adult behaviors and relationships can be shaped when one loses their father, focusing on issues of commitment, trust, intimacy, self-confidence, and independence.

Parenting from Your Heart, by Marshall Rosenberg

- Parenting from Your Heart uses the Nonviolent Communication (NVC) process to teach parents how to foster trust and cooperation in their children. Parents learn how to make long lasting healthy connections and promote dialogue and understanding.

Raising Children Compassionately, by Marshall Rosenberg

- Raising Children uses the Nonviolent Communication (NVC) process to create respectful and healthy family dynamics. It focuses on using compassion to build communication and work through conflicts.

Respectful Parents, Respectful Kids, by Marshall Rosenberg

- Using the Nonviolent Communication (NVC) process, Respectful Parents, Respectful Kids encourages parents to move beyond typical discipline techniques to create an environment based on emotional safety and open communication. The outlined principles teach parents how to talk to their children without coercion and submission, making sure to avoid destructive language.

Forgiveness

I Thought We'd Never Speak Again, by Laura Davis

- I Thought We'd Never Speak Again uses real-life experiences to tackle how to reconcile relationships that have been damaged by betrayal, anger, and misunderstanding. Making a crucial distinction between reconciliation and forgiveness, the book explains how people can make peace in relationships without necessarily forgiving past hurts. This book intends to teach readers how to mend troubled relationships and find peace.

Forgiveness Is a Choice, by Robert Enright

- Forgiveness Is a Choice is a book for people who have been deeply hurt by others. It shows how forgiveness can reduce anxiety and depression while increasing self-esteem and hopefulness toward one's future.

Total Forgiveness, by R.T. Kendall

- Total Forgiveness encourages readers to look within and root out resentment. This book uses Christian philosophies to teach forgiveness.

From Anger to Forgiveness, by Earnie Larsen

- From Anger to Forgiveness lays out strategies for moving beyond resentment to forgiveness. The book teaches how to reclaim the power that anger has over us and reestablish relationships.

The Gift of Forgiveness, by Charles Stanley

- The Gift of Forgiveness uses Christian philosophies to show that no sin is unforgivable. It encourages readers to seek and receive forgiveness.

Radical Forgiveness, by Colin Tipping

- Radical Forgiveness gives step-by-step instructions on how to live a new life in the world through forgiveness. It teaches how to let go of painful events from the past using practical exercises and insights.

The Supernatural Power of Forgiveness, by Vallotton & Vallotton

- Using personal stories, The Supernatural Power of Forgiveness incorporates Christian teachings to help readers find forgiveness. It aims to show how the hardest times and deepest pain of your life can lay the foundation for empowerment.

Healthy Self & Relationships

Why Does He Do That? by Lundy Bancroft

- Why Does He Do That? aims to teach women about the early warning signs of abuse, nature of abusive thinking, and how they can get out of an abusive relationship. It also focuses on the role of drugs and alcohol in abuse and how to spot abusive personality types.

Codependent No More, by Melody Beattie

- Codependent No More focuses on people who suffer from codependency-an excessive reliance on other people for approval and a sense of identity. This book teaches readers how to reclaim their lives for themselves through healing, hope, and happiness.

The New Codependency, by Melody Beattie

- The New Codependency clears up misconceptions about codependency. It is about understanding the boundary between narcissism and self-love, enabling and nurturing, and controlling and setting boundaries. Each section offers an overview of activities pertaining to a particular behavior -- caretaking, controlling, manipulation, denial, repression, etc. -- enabling readers to personalize their own step-by-step guide to wellness.

Personhood: The Art of Being Fully Human, by Leo Buscaglia

- Personhood is about the continual striving for the actualization of every living thing. It is about weaving together a life of optimism, curiosity, hope and love.

Out of the Shadows: Understanding Sexual Addiction, by Pat Carnes

- Out of the Shadows teaches readers how to identify signs of sex addiction. It explains the dynamics of sex and describes the consequences of sexual addiction and dependency. With practical exercises, it points individuals toward the path of recovery.

The Verbally Abusive Relationship, by Patricia Evans

- Drawing on real-life experiences, The Verbally Abusive Relationship reveals the causes of abuse and how readers can mitigate the devastating effects of it in their relationships. The book outlines the levels of abuse that characterize this kind of behavior and how it can escalate to physical abuse.

Women Who Love Too Much, by Robin Norwood

- Women Who Love Too Much outlines a practical program for women who find themselves constantly attracted to troubled, distant, and moody men. It explores why many people associate love with pain and introduces a 10-point recovery plan.

Overcoming Passive-Aggression, by Oberlin & Murphy

- Overcoming Passive-Aggression provides an in-depth look into hidden anger. It showcases the real-life consequences of passive aggression and how it can strain relationships. In the end, the book offers exercises on how to end this behavior, but also how to avoid falling victim to other people's hidden anger.

Addiction to Love, by Susan Peabody

- Addiction to Love focuses on love addiction-the obsessive need to be in a relationship even if toxic. The book explains the variety of ways this disorder plays out, and how to create a loving, safe, and fulfilling relationship.

Courage to Be Yourself, by Sue Patton Thoele

- Courage to Be Yourself is geared towards women who often find themselves meeting the wants of others at the expense of their own needs. The book provides tools to help readers learn to set boundaries, change self-defeating behavior patterns, communicate effectively, and become a loving friend to themselves.

Sexual & Gendered Violence

Courage to Heal: Women Survivors of Sexual Abuse, by Ellen Bass

- The Courage to Heal offers a guide to healing for women that have been sexually abused. The book includes a multitude of real-life stories, research on trauma, and practical suggestions to support women who have been abused.

Male Brain: A Breakthrough Understanding of How Men & Boys Think, by Louann Brizendine

- The Male Brain uses clinical research to describe the lifespan of a man's brain. Readers will learn why it is what young boys seem unable to stay still, why behaviors may change so suddenly during puberty, the nature of irritability in teens, and the ways in which chemicals, physical touch, and play impact adolescent development.

Men Who Rape, by Nicholas Groth

- Men Who Rape presents a comprehensive profile of sexual offenders with extensive information on counseling, prevention, and treatment.
